Employee benefit summaries coming soon
Employees soon will receive updated benefit summary plan descriptions. These booklets provide important benefit information on the plans in which you currently participate or could participate in the future.

Your employee benefits are an important part of your total package. The new booklets will help you understand your benefits and how they can work for you and your family. Please review them for detailed information about eligibility, changing coverage, expenses that are covered and not covered, and claim filing and appeals. Keep your booklet in a convenient place so that you can refer to it when needed.

If you have questions about your benefits, contact your Human Resource representative.

Telephone tie-lines save time, money

"Here in the Metro Region, we’re fortunate to be able to make telephone calls through a number of cost-saving tie-lines," says John Holman, telecommunications manager in Information Services. For example, to call from Sinai Samaritan Medical Center to Hartford Memorial Hospital, dial 88-83 and the four-digit extension. If you don’t know the extension at HMH, dial 88-83, and “0” for an operator to assist you.

“Tie-line calls are free internal calls. They save the time of dialing 9, then 1, then the area code, then the seven digit number. And it saves the cost of long-distance,” explains John. Even local outside calls, at 7.5 cents each, add up, so John recommends...”
New tool available to aid breast self-exams

Breast self-examination is an extremely important part of every woman's breast health. One reason many women give for not doing monthly exams is they can't tell what they are feeling.

Now there's a new tool called Sensor Pad. This device enhances the sensitivity of a woman's fingertips. It is available through the Breast Care Program at St. Luke's Medical Center. To purchase a Sensor Pad, make an appointment with Laura Molleson at 649-7623. The appointment takes 20 to 30 minutes. The cost of the Sensor Pad is $20.

Remember that self-examinations are only part of an overall breast health program. Also key are annual clinical breast exams by a physician and annual mammograms after age 40.

Telephone tie-lines

Using the tie-line connection whenever possible. Local and long-distance calls among Aurora affiliates cost thousands of dollars every month, money that could be put to better use.

John also recommends avoiding directory assistance as much as possible, by writing down frequently called long-distance numbers. Depending on the service used, each directory assistance call costs between 70 and 90 cents.

To be cost-effective, use the following tie-line access codes, plus the four-digit extension:

Your opinion is important

The Aurora Pulse survey will be given to all employees between Feb. 8 and 22. The annual survey is an opportunity for employees to provide feedback and insight into the operations of all departments. The 1999 survey results will be compared with the data from the first Aurora Pulse survey in 1998 so that additional changes and improvements can be made.

Employees will be given time to complete the survey at work. If you have questions, see your Human Resources representative.

The Aurora Libraries are moving their medical databases to the Aurora intranet site (www.ahcweb.aurora.org). By the end of 1999, most of the libraries' databases will be moved to their new home, called the Aurora Libraries Intranet Site, or ALIS. In 2000, the old network will be dismantled.

Already moved to ALIS are MEDLINE, CANCERLIT, CINAHL (nursing and allied health), HealthSTAR (health administration, Health Reference Center (consumer health) and the BNA Human Resources Library.

New on the Aurora Libraries Intranet Site are the following:

- AIDSLINE — Comprehensive coverage of research, clinical and policy issues regarding AIDS.
- BIOETHICSLINE — Comprehensive coverage of bioethics issues.
- EVIDENCE-BASED MEDICINE REVIEWS — Systematic, “the best we know to date” reviews of disease treatment from the international Cochrane Collaboration, the ACP Journal Club articles, and the articles from the journal Evidence-Based Medicine.
- FULL TEXT JOURNALS — The full text of 15 top medical and 15 top nursing journals integrated into the OVID MEDLINE and CINAHL databases.
- STAT-REF — The full text of a group of medical textbooks, including the Merck Manual of Diagnosis and Therapy, Rudolph’s Pediatrics, Williams Obstetrics, Smith’s General Urology, Taylor Family Medicine, Stein Internal Medicine, and many of the “Current Diagnosis and Treatment” series.
- BADGERLINK — General magazine, newspaper and legal databases from the State of Wisconsin.

A psychology- psychiatry database, the Aurora Libraries Online Book Catalog, and the MICROMEDEX drug databases will be available by the end of the year.

The Aurora Libraries are offering two- or three-hour classes, which will cover all MEDLINE and the Health Reference Center databases, as well as others as they become available and time allows. Classes are held at the St. Luke’s and Sinai Samaritan locations. Later in 1999, classes are expected to be added at West Allis Memorial and Sheboygan Memorial. The class schedule is listed in this issue’s Bulletin Board, page 4. To register for any of the classes, please call the Medical Library at St. Luke’s at 649-7356.

The Prenatal Care Coordination Program

The Prenatal Care Coordination (PNCC) Program at Sinai Samaritan Medical Center cares for more than a thousand low-income, at-risk pregnant women every year. The program has been effective in reducing the incidence of prematurity, low-birth weight and infant mortality in the central city of Milwaukee since it was established in 1993.

Every month this year, PNCC will be asking Aurora employees to donate specific items that are needed by patients. In February, the needed items are children's books, crayons and coloring books; in March, infant sleepers and T-shirts; and in April, toddler clothing. Please send or deliver donations to room K4747 at Sinai Samaritan.

Check the Teamworks Bulletin Board in future issues for the kinds of items needed throughout the year.
