

Call for papers!

Journal of Patient-Centered Research and Reviews is seeking manuscript submissions for an upcoming specialty issue dedicated to identifying and reducing HEALTH CARE DISPARITIES.

Disparities in health care may refer to those related to geography, gender, race, income, and more. The deadline to submit papers for this issue is October 1, 2017, and manuscripts submitted earlier may receive priority publication.

JPCRR considers many types of articles, including:

- Original Research
- Systematic or Narrative Review
- Topic Synopsis
- Editorial
- Clinical (Grand) Rounds
- Medical Education
- Patient-Centered Essay or Creative Writing
- From the Other Side of the Table

JPCRR does not accept traditional case reports. However, an abbreviated case description may be used to introduce an evidenced-based review.

---

For complete author instructions or to submit a manuscript, visit our website: www.aurora.org/jpcrr.

A peer-reviewed quarterly journal founded by Aurora Health Care, JPCRR features articles from a broad spectrum of disciplines. With NO article processing charges for submission or publication, the journal stands out as an affordable option among open access periodicals.

For questions, contact Editor-in-Chief Dennis Baumgardner, MD, at jpcrr@aurora.org.